June 22 - 24, 2018

WELCOME

Wooden Boat Show & Summer Solstice Festival

Get comfortable. Pull up a chair by Lake Superior. Grab a bowl of chowder. Fall in love with the lines of a boat. Feel the magic of the solstice pageant. Listen to a story. Dance. Bid. Eat. Learn. Sail. Gather. Whether you've just found us by fortunate accident, or a trip to Wooden Boat Show is a summer pilgrimage for you, we're glad you've journeyed north to join us.

We're confident you'll find plenty to dig into here at North House Folk School: mini courses, live craft demonstrations, storytelling and more. After all, the season of long days and starry nights has arrived and we're ready to celebrate.

Thank you for being a part of this inspiring gathering. Here's to the joys of hands-on craft, life-long learning and savoring the longest days of the year.

WOODEN BOATS ON THE WATER: WOODEN BOAT DISPLAY

Friday, Saturday and Sunday

Wooden boat builders and enthusiasts from across the Midwest are invited to display their crafts on campus throughout the weekend. Admire the work of others, get your questions answered and perhaps feel inspired to build one of your own.

Friday, 6pm: Boat Parade

Perhaps a Wooden Boat Flash Mob on the Grand Marais harbor would be a more appropriate title; let's get on the water. Bring your boat down to campus and enjoy a paddle or a row about with other boat enthusiasts. Or, show up a bit early and hop in one of ours. North House is home to an abundance of boats & helpful people. Put on a life jacket and get on board! At 6pm, we'll parade by an appreciative audience gathered on the North House dock, and then gather in the harbor to enjoy one of the longest evenings of the year with other boat enthusiasts.

Friday • Noon

Panel: Shanty Boats for Water World

Earth is covered by 71% water....why be limited to living on shore? Shantyboats (or houseboats) have long been the homes of itinerant workers, loggers, fishing families and the people who live apart. Join a panel discussion hosted by builders, designers and boat aficionados with an interest in modern applications of low-cost, low-impact, structures that float upon on planet Ocean.

Friday • 1pm

Stannard Rock Lighthouse: The Loneliest Place On Earth • Barb Trombley

Located 42 miles from Marquette in Lake Superior, the Stannard Rock Light Station is the farthest lighthouse from a coast in the United States and was often referred to by the Coast Guard as one of the loneliest places in the country. The Superior Watershed Partnership (SWP) acquired Stannard Rock Lighthouse from the federal government in 2015 and is working with partners to complete a Historic Structure Report to guide the ongoing rehabilitation of this unique structure. This presentation will provide an in-depth view of the history and development of the 136-year-old isolated station, the experiences of the light keeping staff, as well as the lighthouse's current condition, the work and mission of the Superior Watershed Partnership (SWP), and the recommendations established to guide the future of the station.

Friday • 2pm

From Tall Ships to Autonomous Robots: The Changing Face of Oceanography and Limnology

Jay Austin

Oceanographers and Limnologists (lake scientists) once depended entirely on boats in order to access oceans and large lakes. We have learned a tremendous amount about these important systems this way, but weather limits what can be done from the deck of a boat. Over the last two decades, new technologies have arisen that provide unprecedented access to oceans and lakes in all kinds of weather conditions. Autonomous Underwater Gliders are starting to take their place as an important part of how we study oceans and large lakes. One of these gliders, operated by the University of Minnesota, Duluth, will be on display during the boat show, and will be deployed from Hjordis towards the end of the show. A short presentation will discuss the development of this technology and its application to large lakes.

Friday • 3pm

Rhythms of Rowing • Bob Walser

The songs of Voyageurs as they paddled their canoes are legendary. Travelers documented songs sung while rowing in the antebellum south and in Scotland fishermen sang at the oars while dredging for oysters. Join sea scholar Bob Walser for a fascinating exploration of these distinct but related traditions. You'll have a chance to join in a chorus and to discover the mysterious mathematics of rowing!

Friday • 4pm

Folk Songs from "Minnesot-i-o" • The Lost 40

A returning favorite from Boat Show of 2016, Musician Brian Miller will give a presentation on the traditional folk songs carried to Minnesota by lumberjacks, Great Lakes sailors and railroad workers who followed their jobs here in the 1800s, part of his continuing research since he last visited North House. The talk will be illustrated by beautiful historical photos and live music, as Brian's duo The Lost Forty will perform finely crafted arrangements of songs from the era. The Lost Forty is Minnesotan Brian Miller (vocals, guitar, bouzouki) and Wisconsinite Randy Gosa (mandola, guitar). This activity is made possible by the voters of Minnesota through a grant from the Minnesota State Arts Board, thanks to a legislative appropriation from the arts and cultural heritage fund.

Saturday • 2pm
Adventures of a Traveling Textile
Teacher: International Connections
Anne Marie Neilsen

Featured Guest Instructor Anne Marie Nielsen of Denmark reflects “Since my early childhood all kinds of textile craft has been a natural part of my life. As a six year old my very first knitting project was rather greyish but that was a good starting point.” From this humble beginning, a fascination with color and tradition has led her to nearly every corner of the globe, learning and teaching Tanzanian weaving, Faroese knitting, ancient Viking textile techniques and more modern Scandinavian traditions. Anne Marie, also an accomplished storyteller, will share stories of her decades-long dedication to fibers and her global journey.

Saturday • 3pm
From the Northern Border to the Southern Wall: Paddling the Rio Grande River
Bryan Hansel & Dan Shirley

With the lakes frozen and waist-deep snow on the ground there was no open water for northern Minnesota canoeists Bryan Hansel and Dan Shirley to paddle. So, instead of hibernating or strapping xc skis onto their feet, they flew south with a group of northerners to paddle the lower canyons of the Rio Grande River. Hear Bryan and Dan talk about their experience on the river, relate stories and see photos from the trip.

Saturday • 4pm
Canoe Trip, 1917 Style • Dan Helmerson

Local partner the Cook County Historical Society welcomes Dan Helmerson, who will present “a pictorial presentation of a historic eight day canoe trip in the Superior National Forest from 100 years ago.” This talk will be held at the Johnson Heritage Post Gallery, located on Wisconsin Street just three blocks from North House.

Sunday • 12:00 pm
Annual Membership Gathering and Featured Presentation: “Canoeing with Dad and the Gang, circa 1900”

Celebrate another year of mission-driven success at North House. The meeting, open to all (with opportunities for current members to vote), will highlight what our strong community of supporters has accomplished and foreshadow the year ahead. Immediately following the meeting, we will be joined by featured speaker Martha Green Phillips, author of Border Country, the Northwoods Canoe Journals of Howard Greene, 1906-1916

From the day she inherited eight vintage journals of her father’s Northwoods canoe trips, Martha Greene Philips believed that the journals should be shared; they were historically significant and far too interesting to keep on her personal bookshelf.

Over time, her wish to share the journals with the public evolved into a substantial project – she would write a book on them, providing background materials on the times, the people, and places in his journals. Border Country, the Northwoods Canoe Journals of Howard Greene, 1906-1916 was published by the University of Minnesota Press in 2017. The book includes all eight of his journals, six reproduced in entirety, along with illustrations, maps, and more than 350 of his original photographs.

Howard Greene’s journals span a decade’s trips into Northern Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, in regions then wild, but not yet designated as wilderness. With “the Gang”, a group comprised of his young sons and some friends, he paddled on the Wisconsin River, the Chippewa, and St Croix. They paddled the Upper Peninsula’s Presque Isle River, and made four extensive trips into the area now known as the Boundary Waters and the Quetico. On each trip he made daily notes and photographed every day camp life with his Graflex camera. On return home to his family and business in Milwaukee, he typed his notes, printed and mounted his photographs, and created handsome leather bound journals for each trip.

Author Martha Greene Philips will share images and stories from her father’s experiences from the turn of the 20th century, an era between John Muir and Sigurd Olson, a time before the advent of recreational canoeing and a time before canoe maps and guides.

KEEP THE FIRE BURNING BRIGHT

spring outreach appeal 2018

Inspiration is part of everyday here on campus. Walk into a classroom, engage in conversation, look out across Lake Superior's expansive waters, and the rich joy of life and the affirmation of place and community surges into your soul. Such was the case at the most recent Instructor Retreat. Over eighty instructors were in attendance and their time here overflowed with conversation and inspiration - pre-retreat coursework to professional development sessions, department meetings to classroom strategies, and of course, a wood-fired pizza bake. Reflecting on this retreat, one instructor shared this insightful quote and these affirming words, "Gustav Mahler said, 'Tradition is not the worship of ashes. It is the preservation of fire.' Keep the fire going, North House!"

Our members have a direct impact on the ability to serve our mission. Involvement fuels North House's vitality and vision, making everything from instructor retreats to youth engagement a reality. Every gift matters - keep the fire burning bright! Giving during the Spring Outreach Campaign keeps North House strong. Our goal is to welcome 250+ gifts by Wooden Boat Show. Help us reach our goal!
